

KLEIN IS SENTENCED THREE YEARS IN PEN

WILL BE TAKEN TO JOLIET TO COMMENCE HIS TERM
TONIGHT.

TEXT OF SENTENCE BY JUDGE

Believes Mother and Children Great Menace to Society Than the Defendant.

Adam Klein, the Sublette man who last Friday entered a plea of guilty to the charge of rape, was this morning sentenced to three years in the Joliet penitentiary by Judge Farrand. It developed this morning that Klein formerly served a term of five years in the penitentiary for larceny the crime being committed in Chicago. Judge Farrand received the word of his former service in jail this morning, but did not allow that fact to influence him, inasmuch as there was no evidence of such imprisonment in this case.

Klein will commence his imprisonment tonight. He was taken to Joliet at 11 o'clock by Sheriff Reid and will doubtless be placed in the dungeon, where he will serve his first day in solitary confinement, late this afternoon or evening. Judge Farrand's sentence was:

The Court's Sentence.
Upon the entering of the plea of guilty in this case, it was understood by the attorneys and the court that the evidence should be taken to enable the court to reach a decision as to the enormity of the man's crime. The testimony of the younger girl had no bearing on the case, and could not have been allowed before a jury, had the case been tried, and therefore the court is not considering it in fixing sentence.

The testimony of the children was really taken to determine what should be done with the children. It appears to the court that the mother—and the children under the care of the mother—are a greater menace to decent society than this defendant.

Another thing, I think that any man who didn't know the real age of this girl, would have a right to believe—and honestly so, that she was above the age of legal consent, which in this state is fixed at sixteen years. She was unusually well developed for a girl of her age, and any man might honestly be misled as to how old she was.

However, the defendant has violated the law and must be punished. In considering this matter since the hearing, the Court has come to the conclusion that this defendant has been truthful in his statements made on the witness stand. It may be that he was intimate with the younger girl, but I have serious doubts about it. At any rate I have no right to consider that circumstances in the decision of this case. What has caused the Court some concern this morning, Mr. Klein, is the fact that advice has come to me that you have been in the penitentiary before. There is no proof of that in this case, of course, but trustworthy information has reached the court that you have served at least one term, and possibly two, in the state penitentiary at Joliet.

The court had already decided as to the extent of your punishment before being advised as to your past history and will not take that into consideration now. I think my duty is only to consider the testimony that has been presented here. The court assumes the entire responsibility in this case in fixing the penalty to be meted out to this defendant. Stand up, Mr. Klein. Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon you?

By Mr. Klein: No, I have not, your Honor.

By the Court I would like to know and I will state to you now that anything you may say will not add to the penalty the court is about to inflict, whether you have ever been confined in the penitentiary in this state?

By Mr. Klein: I have, your Honor.

DR. R. S. MAC ARTHUR

Preacher Who Urges Baptist
Pastors to Use More Form.

By the Court: More than once?

Mr. Mr. Klein: No sir, just once.

By the Court: The court was satisfied of that, but you have been frank about it, and I shall not, as I say, add anything to the penalty, although your imprisonment of course will not be made as pleasant for you as though this were your first term.

The court has a somewhat different feeling towards you since finding out this phase in your past life, but it makes no difference in its decision. I believe you were influenced to a certain extent by your surroundings and the attitude of the mother in that family, and all this has been given due consideration by the court. It is my advice that when you are discharged from the penitentiary that you should be a new territory and try to be a better citizen. It is the sentence of the court that you be confined in the penitentiary at Joliet for three years, the first day to be in solitary confinement, the balance of the time at hard labor, you to pay the costs of this prosecution.

Judge Farrand signed a few chancery decrees after disposing of the Klein case, and then adjourned court until next Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

GOOD HEADWAY MADE ON ELKS BUILDING

BRICK WORK TO SECOND FLOOR AND JOISTS ARE BEING LAID.

The contractors are making decided headway with the new Elks' building, in fact greater than was expected by the committee. The brick work has been erected to the second floor and the carpenters began putting in the joists this morning. It is thought the building can be ready for the roof within ten days or two weeks.

JOHN SCRIVEN CRACKS A SAFE

BLACKSMITH AND FORMER ALDERMAN DISCOVERED IN A NEW ROLE.

John Scriven, safe cracker, Dixon people will be surprised and shocked after reading the foregoing, to know that the John Scriven mentioned is none other than the genial blacksmith and former city alderman. But despite the unbelievable part of the statement, there can be no doubt that that Mr. Scriven is a safe cracker. He has not, however, reached the stage of using electric drills, nitroglycerine, etc. Mr. S. used a common machinist's hammer, and guarantees it to crack any safe, if it's not too strong. He started last night on his own, while trying to "tap" the tumblers into place, and he "tapped" so hard he broke the hinge off of the strong box. Imagine, if you can, a "tap" of sufficient force to crack a safe.

BEGINS CAMPAIGN FOR CLEANLINESS

ILLINOIS CENTRAL CREATES POSITION OF SANITARY INSPECTOR

DR. CAMPBELL NAMED FOR PLACE

Annual Meeting of Stockholders of Road This Week Was Harmonious

A campaign for more cleanliness and better sanitary conditions throughout its system has been undertaken by the Illinois Central railroad. Dr. A. E. Campbell of Clinton, Ill., has been appointed sanitary inspector and already has begun his duties.

The position of sanitary inspector is a new one, and was created as a result of plans, which have been under consideration by the management for a long time, to have an official who will make a specialty of maintaining healthful surroundings both for employees and patrons. Dr. Campbell has been authorized to enter all cars, dining houses and buildings of every description along the line for the purpose of ascertaining if unsanitary conditions prevail.

He will make reports to the management from time to time regarding his observations and also will submit recommendations for improvements. He is accredited with being an expert in sanitary science. He is now in New Orleans where he has been conducting an investigation into a report that m'ell pox prevailed among a number of shop workmen who were employed to take the place of striking mechanics. At the offices of the I. C. yesterday it was said that the rumor was unfounded.

I. C. Meeting Harmonious.
One of the shortest and most harmonious meetings of Illinois Central stockholders that has been held in years took place Wednesday. R. S. Lovett, John Jacob Astor, J. Ogden Armour and Charles H. Markham, were reelected directors and the acts of the directors for the past year were approved. Among the directors present were Cornelius Vanderbilt, A. G. Hackstaff, Walter Luttgen and John W. Auchincloss, all of New York. Former President Harahan also attended.

As only six of the twelve directors of the company were in attendance, the annual directors was postponed. A total of 755,512 shares of stock out of the 1,092,260 issued was represented. There were 105,512 shares represented in person and 650,000 by proxy. H. W. Leman, counsel for Stuyvesant Fish, objected to the approval of the acts of the directors during the past year. It was explained that by so doing, he preserved any right Mr. Fish may wish to exercise in the future relative to an attack on the directors' actions.

HELD AS GIRL'S SLAYER

Boston Pastor Suspected of Poisoning Young Woman.

Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, Formerly of Liberty, Mo., Must Answer to Heinous Charge.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 21.—Rev. Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, Cambridge, was arrested here, charged with the murder by poison of Avis Lennell of Hyannis, Mass., to whom it is said he promised himself in marriage, but had broken the engagement.

The arrest was made after a group of policemen had been on guard overnight at the fashionable home of Moses Grant Edmonds, whose daughter Violet Richeson expected to marry Oct. 31.

At a brief, formal hearing in the municipal court after his arrest, Richeson was held without bail for further examination Oct. 31, the date set for his wedding, and was sent to jail pending further proceedings.

Just previously to going to the place where she died the evening of Oct. 14, Miss Lennell had read the announcement in a newspaper of the approaching nuptials of Mr. Richeson and Miss Edmonds. At first it was believed to be a case of suicide, but subsequently evidence was produced that the girl had received the poison and taken it in the belief that it was medicine.

Deputy Superintendent Watts says Richeson was arrested on information substantiated by the police that he bought a quantity of cyanide of potassium at a drug store in Newton Center on Oct. 10.

The police of Boston discovered clues which they had long sought and which led them to take summary action.

Mr. Richeson is a native of Rose Hill, Va., and has lived in Liberty, Mo. He is thirty-five years old.

Was Expelled from College.

Liberty, Mo., Oct. 21.—Rev. C. V. T. Richeson was for several years a student at William Jewell college here, and was expelled in 1898 in his senior year when he was detected cheating in his examinations.

LUTHERAN SYNOD IN CONVENTION

OBSERVING 61ST ANNIVERSARY AT THUMMEL HOME IN PALMYRA.

OTHER SESSIONS IN STERLING

Convention Opened on Friday Afternoon With Brotherhood Meeting.

Today the Northern Illinois Lutheran Synod delegates, who opened their annual convention in Sterling yesterday afternoon, are observing the anniversary of the founding of the synod. They were taken to the old home of the late Rev. C. B. Thummel, a mile north of Prairieville, where the first constitution was written, May 14, 1851, and where arrangements were made for the first meeting in September, 1851, at Cedarville.

The 61st anniversary is made memorable by this visit to the old home of the man who was largely responsible for the founding of the synod. Dr. Thummel was born in Jever, Germany, in 1802, and being of a very studious nature was given a fine education. He unjustly fell under suspicion of belonging to a hostile political club in 1824 and left Germany at the suggestion of the Grand Duke of Jever in 1826. In 1845 he settled in Palmyra township, this county. Here he took up the work which has endeared him above all other Lutherans in Northern Illinois. The old Thummel homestead is built of material much of which was hauled over the pioneer trail from Chicago.

Synod in Session.

The present session of the synod convened Friday afternoon at 2:30 in St. John's church, Sterling, a meeting of the laymen being a preliminary session to the regular convention which opened last evening. One hundred and twenty-five delegates are in attendance and are being entertained by the members of the church and their friends.

The Brotherhood meeting opened in the afternoon with the singing of the famous Lutheran hymn, "Ein Feste Burg," followed by a prayer by Rev. F. M. Keller of Polo. The address of welcome on behalf of the Sterling Brotherhood was delivered by G. E. Bishop and the response was given by Hon. A. A. Krape of Lena. The business features of the meeting including the reports and other routine business, were then transacted.

Prof. S. N. Carpenter of Carthage college then delivered a very able address on "Men for the Ministry" and was followed by an address on "Our Synodical Brotherhood in Relation to Our Home Mission Work" by C. J. Driever of Chicago.

Rev. H. C. Kleckner of Milledgeville delivered an interesting address on "A Living Brotherhood" as did Dr. A. L. Beard of Polo on "Lutheran Literature."

Banquet in Evening.

At 6 o'clock last evening the ladies of St. John's church served a banquet to the visiting delegates and the Sterling Brotherhood in the church parlors, at which time toasts and short addresses were delivered by the following:

Bros. N. H. Long of Dixon, Mr. Cobe of Calvary church, Chicago; A. M. Johnson of Polo; A. J. Olsen of Unity church, Chicago; W. C. Seiple of Princeton and Rev. H. M. Bannen of Rockford.

After the banquet the convention opened at 8 o'clock with an address by Rev. J. M. Bramcamp of Chicago, one of the leading Lutheran ministers of the west and a pulpit orator of unusual power. His subject was "Men and the Kingdom." A large audience was present to hear him and the address was thoroughly enjoyed.

ANOTHER WRECK ON LEE COUNTY LINE

HOT BOX CUT OFF JOURNAL LET- TING AXLE DROP AND TEAR UP THE TRACK.

Another wreck on the Lee county line yesterday at about 11 a. m. An extra, No. 122, westbound, had a hot box and cut off a journal about one and a half miles east of Graves Center. At the point where the car axle dropped ten or twelve ties were torn up, the train running a quarter of a mile before it was stopped. No other damage was done. The wrecking crew from Clinton arrived at 5 p. m. The end of the damaged car was raised and the broken truck replaced by another. A hot box frequently burns off a journal and the book of rules requires that the train be stopped and the box cooled.

Foreman Graves and his men soon had the track repaired and at 6 o'clock the line was again open for traffic.

PRESIDENT TAFT TELLS WYOMING PEOPLE PROSECUTION WILL CONTINUE

SHERMAN LAW TO BE ENFORCED

Speaks With Some Heat About People Who Oppose Efforts of Administration.

Newcastle, Wyo., Oct. 21.—"No matter whether we be damned or not" the administration will continue to push the enforcement of the Sherman antitrust law, so President Taft told an audience here.

The president gave a general account of the work of his administration and his aims, when he jumped once more into the question of trust prosecutions, answering with more heat than he has exhibited heretofore the criticism of his trust-breaking policy.

He said: "Just as we are about to reach a proper and successful prosecution of that law we begin to find that there are some people that object to the administration on account of the fact that we are prosecuting these trusts and we are enforcing the law."

"It is a case where the administration is in the situation of being damned if it does not, and damned if it does. It is hard to satisfy some people, but our understanding in the administration is that when the president lifted his hand to defend the constitution and enforce the laws it meant something and when there was a law upon the statute books there for twenty years to suppress these combinations to monopolize and interfere with interstate trade, that it was his business and the business of all under him to enforce the law, and that is what we are doing and that is what we are going to do whether we be damned or not."

The president travelled some 250 miles through northeast Wyoming and visited three towns along the route.

FOLKS PAST FIFTY MUST USE CASCARETS

What Glasses Are to Weak Eyes, Cascarets Are to Weak Bowels—a 10-cent Box Will Truly Amaze You

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. You may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

"Rebellion," the new play on the subject of divorce by Joseph Medill Patterson of Chicago was produced in his native city Monday night, Oct. 16, in the Grand opera house, before a representative audience and scored a success such as has been recorded in no Chicago play house in many seasons. There were 12 curtain calls after the first act, 14 after the second and 14 after the third, with calls for author and a speech from Miss Elliott, the star; and the audience remained after the final curtain to call the company again and again before the curtain.

As to the play, its theme, story and subject matter are well known by now, owing to the recent publication of Mr. Patterson's novel of similar title on the same subject. The Chicago newspapers were a unit in praising the immense progress made by Mr. Patterson since the days of The Fourth Estate, and A Little Brother of the Rich. His treatment of the theme of divorce was recognized as eminently fair and impartial, and it was agreed by the critics that the outcome of the play was the inevitable outcome in the given circumstances, to-wit: the degradation of a cultured and high-minded young woman compelled by the views of her family to continue as the wife of a drunken husband.

As to Miss Elliott's acting in the role of Georgia Connor, the young wife, it proved a revelation to those who hitherto knew her mainly as a comedienne and an actress of ingenue character.

CHAPTER XII.

Instead of returning to the city on Monday, Daylight rented the butcher's horse for another day and crossed the bed of the valley to its eastern hills. As on the previous day, just for the joy of it, he followed cattle-trails at haphazard and worked his way up toward the summits. Coming out upon a wagon road that led upward, he followed it for several miles, emerging in a small, mountain-encircled valley, where half a dozen poor ranchers farmed the vine-grapes on the steep slopes. Beyond, the road pitched upward. Dense chaparral covered the exposed hillsides, but in the creases of the canyons huge spruce trees grew, and wild oats and flowers.

Late in the afternoon he broke through, and followed a well-defined trail down a dry canyon. The dry canyon gave place to one with a slender ribbon of running water. The trail ran into a wood-road, and the wood-road emerged across a small flat upon a slightly traveled country road. There were no farms in this immediate section, and no houses. The soil was meager, the bed-rock either close to the surface or constituting the surface itself. Manzanita and scrub-oak, however, flourished and walled the road on either side with a jungle growth. And out a runway through this growth a man suddenly scuttled in a way that reminded Daylight of a rabbit.

He was a little man, in patched overalls; bareheaded, with a cotton shirt open at the throat and down the chest. The sun was ruddy-brown in his face, and by it his sandy hair was bleached on the ends to peroxide blonde. He signed to Daylight to halt, and held up a letter.

"If you're going to town, I'd be obliged if you mail this," he said. "I sure will," Daylight put it into his coat pocket. "Do you live hereabouts, stranger?"

But the little man did not answer. He was gazing at Daylight in a surprised and steadfast fashion. "I know you," the little man announced. "You're Elam Harnish—Burning Daylight, the papers call you. Am I right?"

Daylight nodded. "Well, I'm glad I wrote that letter this afternoon," the little man went on, "or else I'd have missed seeing you. I've seen your photo in the papers many a time, and I've a good memory for faces. I recognized you at once. My name's Ferguson."

"Do you live hereabouts?" Daylight repeated his query. "Oh, yes. I've got a little shack back here in the bush a hundred yards and a pretty spring, and a few fruit trees and berry bushes. Come in and take a look. And that spring is a dandy. You never tasted water like it. Come in and try it."

Walking and leading his horse, Daylight followed the quick-stepping, eager little man through the green tunnel and emerged abruptly upon the clearing, if clearing it might be called, where wild nature and man's earth-scratching were inextricably blended. It was a tiny nook in the hills, protected by the steep walls of a canyon mouth. Here were several large oaks, evidencing a richer soil. The erosion of ages from the hillside had slowly formed this deposit of fat earth. Under the oaks, almost buried in them,

"What Do You Think of It, Eh?"

stood a rough, unpainted cabin, the wide veranda of which, with chairs and hammocks, advertised an out-of-doors bedchamber. Daylight's keen eyes took in everything. The clearing was irregular, following the patches of the best soil, and every fruit tree and berry bush, and even each vegetable plant, had the water personally conducted to it. The tiny irrigation channels were everywhere, and along some of them the water was running. Ferguson looked eagerly into his visitor's face for signs of approbation. "What do you think of it, eh?"

"Hand-reared and manicured, every blessed tree," Daylight laughed, but the joy and satisfaction that shone in his eyes contented the little man. "Why, d'ye know, I know every one of those trees as if they were sons of mine. I planted them, nursed them, fed them, and brought them up. Come on and peep at the spring."

"It's sure a hamper," was Daylight's verdict, after due inspection and sampling, as they turned back for the house.

The interior was a surprise. The cooking being done in the small, lean-to kitchen, the whole cabin formed a large living-room. A great table in the middle was comfortably littered with books and magazines. All the available wall space, from wall to ceiling, was occupied by filled bookshelves. It seemed to Daylight that he had never seen so many books assembled in one place. Skins of wildcat, coon and deer lay about on the pine-board floor.

Daylight found himself charmed and made curious by the little man. Why was he hiding away here in the chaparral, he and his books? So it was, when between them they had washed and wiped the dishes and put them away, and had settled down to a comfortable smoke, that Daylight put his question.

"Look here, Ferguson. Every since we got together, I've been casting about to find out what's wrong with you, to locate a screw loose somewhere, but I'll be damned if I've succeeded. What are you doing here, anyway?"

Ferguson frankly showed his pleasure at the questions.

"First of all," he began, "the doctors wound up by losing all hope for me. Gave me a few months at best, and that, after a course in sanitariums and a trip to Europe and another to Hawaii. They tried electricity and forced feeding and fasting. I was a graduate of about everything in the curriculum. They kept me poor with their bills, while I went from bad to worse. The trouble with me was twofold; first I was a born weakling; and next, I was living unnaturally—too much work, and responsibility and strain. I was managing editor of the Times-Tribune in San Francisco, and I wasn't strong enough for the strain. Of course my body went back on me, and my mind, too, for that matter. It had to be bolstered up with whisky, which wasn't good for it any more than was the living in clubs and hotels good for my stomach and the rest of me. So I quit, quit everything, absolutely, and came to live in the Valley of the Moon—that's the Indian name, you know, for Sonoma Valley. I lived in the lean-to the first year; then I built the cabin and sent for my books. I never knew what happiness was before, nor health. Look at me now and dare to tell me that I look forty-seven."

"I wouldn't give a day over forty," Daylight confessed. "Yet the day I came here I looked nearer sixty, and that was fifteen years ago."

They talked all day, and Daylight looked at the world from new angles. Here was a man, neither bitter nor cynical, who laughed at the city-dwellers and called them lunatics; a man who did not care for money, and in whom the lust for power had long since died.

It was not until ten o'clock that Daylight parted from Ferguson. As he rode along through the starlight, the idea came to him of buying the ranch on the other side of the valley. There was no thought in his mind of ever intending to live on it. His game was in San Francisco. But he liked the ranch, and as soon as he got back to the office he would open up negotiations with Hillard.

The time passed, and he played on at the game. San Francisco's attitude toward Daylight had undergone a change. While he, with his slashing buccaneer methods, was a distinct menace to the more orthodox financial gamblers, he was nevertheless so grave a menace that they were glad enough to let him alone. He had already taught them the excellence of letting a sleeping dog lie.

Dede Mason was still in the office. He had made no more overtures, discussed no more books. He had no active interest in her, and she was to him a pleasant memory of what had never happened, a joy, which, by his essential nature, he was barred from ever knowing. Yet, while his interest had gone to sleep and his energy was consumed in the endless battles he waged, he knew every trick of the light on her hair, every quick definite mannerism of movement, every line of her figure as expounded by her tailor-made gowns. Several times, six months or so apart, he had increased her salary, until now she was receiving ninety dollars a month. Beyond this he dared not go, though he got around it by making the work easier. This he had accomplished after her return from a vacation, by retaining her substitute as an assistant. Also, he had changed his office suite, so that now the two girls had a room by themselves. The more he saw of her, and the more he thought he knew of her, the more unapproachable did she seem to him. But since he had no intention of approaching her, this was anything but an unsatisfactory fact. He was glad he had her in his office, and hoped she'd stay, and that was about all.

Daylight did not improve with the passing years. The life was not good for him. He was growing stout and soft, and there was unwanted flabbiness in his muscles. The more he drank cocktails, the more he was compelled to drink in order to get the desired result, the inhibitions that eased him down from the concert pitch of his operations. And with this went wine, too, at meals, and the long drinks after dinner of Scotch and soda at the Riverside. Then, too, his body suffered from lack of exercise; and, from lack of decent human associations, his moral fibers were weakening. Never a man to hide anything, some of his escapades became public, such as speeding, and of joy-rides in his big red motor car down to San Jose with companions distinctly sporty—incidents that were narrated as good fun and comically in the newspapers.

CHAPTER XIII.

One Sunday, late in the afternoon, found Daylight across the bay in the Piedmont hills of Oakland. As usual, he was in a big motor car, though not his own, the guest of Swiftwater Bill, Luck's own darling, who had come down to spend the clean-up of the seventh fortune wrung from the frozen Arctic travel. It was a merry party, and they had made a merry day of it, circling the bay from San Francisco around by San Jose and up to Oakland, having been thrice arrested for speeding, the third time, however, on the Haywards stretch, running away with their captor. Fearing that a telephone message to arrest them had been flashed ahead, they had turned into the back-road through the hills, and now, rushing in upon Oakland by a new route, were boisterously discussing what disposition they should make of the constable.

"We'll come out at Blair Park in ten minutes," one of the men announced. "Look here, Swiftwater, there's a cross-road right ahead, with lots of gates, but I'll take us back country into Berkeley. Then we can come back into Oakland from the other side, sneak across on the ferry, and send the machine back around tonight with the chauffeur."

But Swiftwater Bill failed to see why he should not go into Oakland by way of Blair Park, and so decided.

The next moment, flying around a bend, the back-road they were not going to take appeared. Inside the gate, leaning out from her saddle and just closing it, was a young woman on a chestnut sorrel. With his first glimpse, Daylight felt there was something strangely familiar about her. The next moment, straightening up in the saddle with a movement he could not fail to identify, she put the horse into a gallop, riding away with her back toward them. It was Dede Mason—he remembered what Morrison had told him about her keeping a riding horse, and he was glad she had not seen him in this riotous company. Intervening trees at that moment shut her from view, and Swiftwater Bill plunged into the problem of disposing of their constable, while Daylight, leaning back with closed eyes, was still seeing Dede Mason gallop off down the country road.

To Be Continued.

Come and see our crops; they are twice as good as in the county west of us, and last year we had many times the grain raised in Towner county. Our altitude and clay subsoil with shale below makes the difference. Even last year some grain crops sold for enough to pay for the land. They will do it again this year and I would not trade one quarter here for ten quarters in parts of South Dakota, where land has sold for more than the price of this and some for twice as much. Track Scale Upper Structure

The engineer for the Standard Scales Co., came out from Chicago Monday morning and at once set to work with the installation of the track scales for the West Brooklyn Farmers' Elevator Co. The concern have a gang of men assisting the superintendent and in a few days' time it is expected to have all the upper structure of the scales in place. The foundation has been finished for a couple of weeks and has been maturing all this time in order to be strong enough to carry the heavy beams and loaded cars which will run over it. The scale is a great piece of work and something the elevator company can point with pride to. It will be the means of saving them many dollars each year in their grain shipments, for every little shortage can now be detected, and the railroad made to pay for. Each empty car is weighed as soon as it is put upon the scale and then it is filled with grain and weighed again, before it leaves the scale, so that the manager can tell exactly the amount of grain in the car. Then if it arrives in Chicago with a less amount of grain than his weight shows, it is up to the rail road company to settle for the loss as they are responsible for the safe delivery of all grain hauled over their lines and must thus pay for the value of the grain hauled over their lines, and the grain lost. It is a big step forward by the West Brooklyn Farmers' Elevator Company and the stock holders can thank their officials and directors for their enterprise and ability they have displayed in its construction and purchase.

Last Rites Over Jos. Bernardin, Sr.

One of the largest funerals ever held in West Brooklyn was at St. Mary's church on Monday to pay their respects to the body of the late Joseph Bernardin Sr. The remains were brought here from Amboy followed by a large funeral procession, and as the roads and weather were so unfavorable, they did not reach West Brooklyn until half past eleven. Rev. Thos. Edwards performed the services and delivered a very impressive sermon. The church was packed with people and every stranger was well pleased with St. Mary's pastor. The body of the deceased was taken to the Catholic cemetery, where it was laid beside the bodies of his parents and little son.

The leg was swollen to about three times its normal size and gave its owner much pain. The original hurt was sustained about a week ago, and but little attention was paid to it until Monday of this week when all of a sudden it resulted into real pain as the result of a fresh bruise. We hope that it soon heals and permits Mr. Edwards to resume his work.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

The Stomach and Longevity.
Excessive secretion of gastric fluid in the stomach is a cause of digestive disturbance or an evidence of it. When many different kinds of food requiring different ferments for digestion and elimination are eaten, especially at the same meal, a severe tax is imposed upon the system, which is saved by simple diet, as in all those cases of extreme longevity quoted by Metchnikoff and in that of Carnaro, the most noted of all, and so from whatever viewpoint the question is considered the principle of the monodiet proves to be important.

"IT WAS A CHANCE THAT HAPPENED TO US"

Some features of the case of Dr. Harry Elgin Webster, of Lee and Ogle counties have received little attention under the shock and attendant excitement following the terrible revelation. The crime pertains directly to Lee and Ogle counties and strikes home with a special significance; whereas to people in other places, it appears merely as an outside occurrence.

Dr. Webster is looked upon as the greatest and worst criminal in the two counties. Perhaps he is, and perhaps he is not. All we can affirm is, that he is the greatest and worst criminal that has been detected and his crimes laid bare before the public. He was found out, that is all. There may be others, not yet found out. There are certainly many who are taking the course he took, and who may be suddenly cut off and that without remedy. The question as to comparative depth of criminality is wholly immaterial.

We read in a book found everywhere, the most common in our language, but for some reason, never made use of in secular publications—the following:

"There were present at that season some that told him of the Galleans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

"And Jesus, answering, said unto them, 'Suppose ye that these Galleans were sinners above all the Galleans, because they suffered such things?

"I tell you, Nay: but, except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish.

"Or those eighteen, upon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, think ye that they were sinners above all men that dwelt in Jerusalem?

"I tell you, Nay: but except ye repent ye shall likewise perish."

That is pertinent in the case now under consideration. Providence has sent out here a terrible example to be a special warning to evil doers, to young people, and to parents who through carelessness or mistaken kindness and indulgence, let their children go out in to the world without proper discipline.

We will believe in Providence,—"there is a divinity that shapes our ends,"—but we write it with a small p, as that is supposed to render it impersonal; and does not imply direct interference with human plans or actions. But, the idea of providence independent of mind, is absurd. Providence that has any connection or relation whatever with human affairs must rest back instantly and entirely upon infinite, omnipotent, intelligence. A Providence, whether ordinary special or miraculous, is wholly the direct interposition of a Supreme Being, and there is no essential difference in the three; the distinctions are arbitrary.

This is not merely a statement of religious belief, it is a necessary and logical inference from the commonly accepted premise, that there is a providence or divinity that shapes our ends.

It is not difficult to trace the hand of Providence in the circumstances attending the crime for which Dr. Webster is on trial. He was born in Ogle county where he passed his boyhood, came to Lee county and grew to manhood, of good repute and bright promise for the future. He went to Chicago to finish his studies and there began his downward course.

Hopelessly entangled in the consequences of his base deceptions and misdeeds, ordinary prudence and good sense should have induced him to prevent so far as possible, the story of his fall being known here where he was well thought of and his family are held in high esteem. He could have rid himself of the girl he had deceived more easily and with greater safety in Chicago, even had he found it necessary to take extreme measures.

Instead, however, he takes his victim to Dixon, where he is known and where his family live; not secretly by a night train, but by an afternoon train on which there was almost a certainty of being Dixon residents who would know him. They ride in a street car to town, put up at a hotel; he quarrels with his companion during the night and at the breakfast table, hires a horse and carriage after breakfast drives north into Ogle county where he was born, to commit the murder, returns alone with the conveyance and goes back to Chicago,—leaving a blazed trail of crime from the time he first left the city.

It is a most unaccountable transaction altogether, unless we recognize in it the hand of Providence. We repeat, that the crime pertains directly and almost exclusively to Lee and Ogle counties, and strikes home with a startling significance.

"For the Scripture saith unto Pharaoh, Even 'or this same purpose have I raised thee up, that I might show my power in thee, and that my name might be declared throughout the earth."

DEAD MAN AWAKENS AT HIS OWN INQUEST

STARTLED CORONER WHEN HE VOICED OBJECTIONS TO PROCEEDINGS.

David Reese, a well known character about Rockford, furnished the Ogle county authorities with the experience of a lifetime on Thursday, when he suddenly revived after having been dead to all outward appearances for hours.

His awakening from the dead, for he had been pronounced dead, startled the coroner's jury which was getting ready to enquire into the cause of his hurried exit from earthly scenes.

Reese could not have chosen a more psychological moment for his comeback had he been fully cognizant of all that had gone on following the discovery of his apparently lifeless body in a cornfield hours before.

Coroner Aiken had been summoned from Forreston, 20 miles away, to the scene of the finding of the "dead" man near Byron. A jury was summoned and the coroner started to deliver the oath to the foreman and had reached the passage which runs thusly, "on the body of the man which here lies dead," when Reese opened his good eye and remarked, "Not by a damn sight."

This took the breath out of the jurors and puzzled the coroner, who was nonplussed by the resurrection to life of one who had every appearance of a corpse. When revived Reese was hurried to the Rockford hospital, for he was in a dangerous condition as a result of exposure.

He had been found in the corn field by a hunter and was cold as in death. He now has every chance of recovery. The members of the coroner's jury do not see the funny side of the case and want the fees that would have followed his being dead for keeps.

DEMENT TOWN DOINGS

It is reported we had a frost last night. Well what of it? There are a number of Cub fans in Dixon who will vouch for the statement that there were a number of frosts earlier in the week.

When a young man's mustache first commences to grow would you call it down and out? We pause for a reply.

It's too bad there wasn't a post series to see which was the worst team in Boston.

Don't be alarmed because of that frost last night. Winter isn't really here until curiosity results in leaving a section of the tongue on the pump handle.

When a family begins to call it luncheon instead of dinner, it's a sign they are putting on more style and less to eat.

There are surely a lot of ancient codgers in Dixon. We know several men who can remember when folks used to ride on bicycles.

Jeemse Allen says it's easy to accumulate money in this country. After a fellow gets his first million there's nothing to it.

Some people believe the sun's going to shine again. That's experience. Some believe the world's getting better. That's faith. And then there are some who believe the council will eventually get a fine deal out of the water and light companies. That's imagination.

Fireman Penny is having trouble with his bed. Penny, who is getting fat at the job, says the pesky bed is not level any more, for no matter which way he lies he can't see his feet.

Many a man who is honest as the day is long will bear considerable watching after sundown.

It beats the dickens how fast the first of the month rolls around when you are paying for an encyclopedia on the installment plan, doesn't it?

We'll Try It Here.

A Sterling paper recently published this item: "The business man of this town who is in the habit of hugging his typewriter had better quit or we will publish his name." The next day 37 business men called at the office, paid their subscriptions and left 37 columns of advertising. At the same time advising the editor not to believe any such foolish stories.

Goose Hollow Notes.

Mrs. Ansel Hanks is now ready to take in boarders. Those who are prepared to be taken in will find no better place. Mrs. Hanks serves roast beef Sundays, cold beef Mondays, beef Tuesdays, beef croquettes Wednesdays, beef stew Thursdays, beef a la mode Friday and picked up beef Saturdays. Short order cooking a specialty. All orders are short. Jelly roll every Saturday, weather permitting.

Seth Purdy, our gentlemanly and congenial druggist, also chest protector and false teeth to rent by day or week (see adv. on page 3) says he is in favor of local option in our midst. If the drug store would only put on a free lunch it might be all right.

Deacon Pringle's mule Haycinth swallowed about nine rods of barbed wire fence last week and now the deak, says he can see fine points stick in' out all over her.

Miss Lutie Bibbins, our accomplished musician and singer wants her pa to let her take Technique. But old man Bibbins says all the rest of the family have always took Hank's Family Tea, and what's good enough for the rest of the family is good enough for Lutie.

LEFFLEMAN GIRLS FOUND DEPENDANT

REV. HAGAN OF SUBLETTE HAS BEEN APPOINTED THEIR GUARDIAN.

Ruth and Mae Leffleman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Will Leffleman, Sublette, the two girls who were implicated in the Klein case which was heard in the circuit court last week, were this morning found dependant by Judge W. A. Blodgett in the Lee county court, and Rev. H. A. Hagan of Sublette was appointed as their guardian.

During his visit in this city Judge Blodgett was summoned as a witness in the Smith vs. Hart case, which is before the circuit court, on the chancery side.

A Tax Exempt Stock That Pays 7% Dividends

As typical of the best and most up-to-date practice in the central electrical station industry in our larger cities, there is no investment more worthy of investigation than the stock of the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago. Notwithstanding its astonishingly rapid growth and its present strategic position, this Company is as yet doing only a fraction of the business that it will do in the near future.

The Commonwealth Edison Company is at present retailing electricity in a territory that covers 200 square miles, but that territory is only "tapped," so to speak. There is expert authority for the statement that three times the present volume of business should naturally come to the Company's Central Station.

Yet, gigantic as is the retail business of the Commonwealth Edison Company, it forms only one-third of its total business, two-thirds of which is wholesale. It supplies electricity to 1250 miles of street and elevated railway track and its service to smaller Central Stations extends 85 miles to the north, 55 miles to the south and 35 miles to the west of Chicago.

A very considerable portion of the Company's wholesale business is concerned in the sale of electricity for light and power to manufacturers. In this field there is still opportunity for a vast increase of business in replacing private power plants with the more economical Central Station service.

The Commonwealth Edison Company represents an investment of over $70,000,000, and is paying dividends at the rate of 7% per annum on its capital stock. The future prospects of this stock are indicated by the recent advance in the dividend rate from 6% to 7%. At the present market price of about $130.00 per share, the net return to the investor is about 5 3/4%. While the stock was paying 6% dividends it sold at average prices that yielded a smaller net return. This justifies us in the belief that Commonwealth Edison stock is now a more desirable investment than ever before.

Commonwealth Edison stock is listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange. We recommend this stock as an investment of exceptionally high character, paying 7% dividends, and as being exempt from taxation under Illinois laws. Full information will be gladly supplied in answer to all inquiries.

COMPTON NEWS ITEMS OF THE DAY

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO CONDUCT ENTERTAINMENT COURSE— HALLOWEEN SOCIAL.

Compton, Oct. 20—Floyd Johnson has sold his interest in the Compton Mercantile company and will probably enter business elsewhere.

A bible class study in the Life of Christ has been formed and meets each Thursday in the Methodist church at 7:45. A large number have joined the class and a very interesting study is before them. There is room for more. Come and join us. Rev. Graham is teacher and Mrs. Mary Bennett is assistant.

The Boy Scouts have voted to give a play in the near future. The boys have added two new members recently, Irving Bauer and Edgar Hoefner. Irving Holden has applied for membership.

Mrs. Belle Stainbrook is entertaining her two sisters for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howland of Prophetstown, sister and brother in law of Mrs. F. A. Graham, spent a few days recently with Rev. Graham and family. Mr. Howland is a prosperous farmer and reports the crops good in his locality.

Mrs. Horton of Berlin spent a few days with Compton relatives the last week.

Mrs. Ira Clemmons was taken ill Sunday night. The doctor pronounced the case bronchial pneumonia. Mrs. Clemmons was slightly improved Tuesday.

Gus Bauer has purchased a farm of 160 acres of Fred Betz. This land lies southeast of Compton about 3 1/2 miles.

The Epworth league will give a Halloween social in the basement of the church on Tuesday, Oct. 31. A fine program is being arranged and old and young are invited. A spooky time is expected. If you have heart trouble better not come.

The Epworth league will manage the lecture course the coming winter. The committee has met and arranged for the course, to consist of five numbers. The price of tickets will be $1.50 for the course. The numbers are all first class and the standard established the last few years has not been lowered though it was thought best to cut down the number that the tickets could be sold 50 cents less. It will be necessary however, to sell a larger number of tickets at the reduced rate in order to make the course a financial success. Those who managed the course last winter were financially out of pocket.

It would be a real misfortune for a town situated as we are with little but moving picture shows for entertainment to let the year go by without something in the way of musical and literary entertainment. Please give the committee courteous treatment when they approach you concerning the matter. The following is the course as planned:

Toten the magician. Anyone who wants to hear and see his entertainment wouldn't miss double the price of admission to hear him. He is the best in his line on the road today.

The Salisbury family who gave an entertainment on their own initiative here last March. Their program is rich and varied, clean and uplifting. In our judgment their entertainment was fully as good as that of the Rounds orchestra which cost our committee last year $100.

The Preachers' Male Quartet needs no introduction to Methodists who have attended Franklin Grove camp meetings. They are all fine singers and their quartet work is above criticism.

Rev. Claude Moore, Supt. of Dixon district, will give his illustrated lecture on "What a Yankee Saw on a Trip to Rome." This lecture was given at West Brooklyn a few weeks ago and the people were so pleased with it that they are anxious to secure Dr. Moore for another evening.

Dr. Ernest Ray Oneal of Chicago will give the fifth number of the course. He is an orator of great ability and never fails to please. I have seen and heard all of these entertainments and lectures and can commend them all without reserve. Get your tickets and be ready for the first number.

WILL SING "THE PUBLICAN."

At the morning service in the M. E. church tomorrow Robert Anderson will sing "The Publican," by Var de Vetter. This beautiful song has attracted much attention in the east.

Mayor L. H. Shadensack, Aldermen Liebhart, Zarembe, McClusky and Link, Architect Wachta and City Clerk Chas. Holmscheid were in the party.

PRAISE FOR UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS.

That the University of Illinois, young, vigorous and up-to-date, is one of the finest and most complete educational institutions in the world not barring the majestic and long established seats of learning in Europe is the opinion of Marquis of Queensberry, who in a charming story written for the Chicago Tribune, tells his impressions of the famous school at Champaign-Urbana, which he recently visited. Queensberry's story makes interesting reading for parents and friends of young men and women of Dixon and vicinity who are students there, giving them more information about Illinois' school than they perhaps would gain by a visit to it. For the marquis, though himself denied the advantage of a college education, is thoroughly familiar with the great colleges and universities of the European centers and is competent to make a fair comparison of the merits of the latter and those which he investigated in this country since coming here.

"I am afraid I came with a great deal of the pride of our own educational methods taken out of me," said the marquis in his story. "In our country I have never seen such a far-reaching and comprehensive system as that comprised in the campus of Illinois university. Certainly at home we have fine colleges and also schools of engineering and agriculture, but nowhere are they congregated all together as one university. Likewise the system of women as well as men being undergraduates is something entirely new to a Britisher. Indeed I feel that the young, vigorous institutions of the United States can teach us much, and though we have great antiquity, amounting almost to a sacred halo, attached to such institutions as Oxford and Cambridge, yet all this is equaled quite by the majesty of the youth, who have built up quite as sacred a place, with equal serenity and from all I could see, as high ideals as the highest of our colleges. The undergraduates struck me as fine, gentlemanly young men, of a splendid physique, and filled with college spirit and love of their alma mater. I did not see much of the graduates, but admiring their pleasant, lady-like appearance, as my time was limited.

"I was particularly struck by the agricultural section and by the engineering section. Any lad who has such advantages and fails to prosper afterward in life must have misapplied his time and wasted his opportunities. There seems nothing lacking; practically every branch of science, art and trade can be learned. It is all there waiting for the fortunate citizens of America to help themselves and go in and come out with all the necessary armor to carry them so strongly through the battles of life."

And so on through his story the marquis finds limitless opportunity to praise, first one feature and then another. It was at Illinois that he saw his first game of football, American rugby as he called it, and tells in a most interesting way how he learned the yells of the Illini, cheered them on the field and helped them celebrate properly their victory over Milliken University. In conclusion he says:

"To sum up my impressions and my deep appreciation of all that I saw at Illinois, I could give no better resume than to say that by this mail I am writing to my wife and D. V. should I stay here, and the Illinois University willing, my boy Cecil shall go there and have opportunities his father never, never knew."

NORTH DIXON SCHOOL NOTES

ITEMS OF EDUCATIONAL INTEREST

The acquirement of a free movement in writing is well worth while. It is generally acknowledged to be a prime necessity for the production of practical writing. Without it sustained speed is not possible unless an amount of energy be expended out of all proportion to the requirements of the work being done. The education of the muscles of the forearm to produce rapid, accurate forms is something so easily attained that those who have it wonder that those who do not write by this process can be content to produce such indifferent writing. The verdict in favor of the Muscular movement as being best suited to the demands of all commercial and professional employments is becoming more and more general.

Up to date information: The gates of the locks of the Panama canal are such as the world never before saw. They are as tall as a nine-story building; they are thick enough to allow a foot-path on the upper edge. The pins of the hinges on which they swing are made of nickel-steel ten inches thick. There are 46 of these gates and their total weight is 60,000 tons.

The Northern Illinois Teachers' association with its attendant over-amount of work to the superintendents and teachers of Dixon, will be to teachers and the people just what we put into it of good-will and earnestness and enthusiasm. Many of our people have already set a good pace by standing ready and themselves offering to lend a hand in the good work. It is no little thing to accommodate from 1200 to 1500 people to lodging and meals, even if it be for but a short time. Those who come forward and offer their help at such times certainly show the true spirit of loyalty to their town and of commendable hospitality.

This is the time of year for lessons on leaves. Pupils do not need much encouragement to bring in vast collections. They should be taught form and color of leaves. Drawings may be made of the various forms. They may be pasted on large sheets of paper as borders. With different colors of paints or water colors and a fine brush much can be taught of outline and color and pleasing grouping. There are no materials equal to brush and water colors for teaching freedom of movement and lightness of touch.

This poem is a good one for October:

October gave a party—
The leaves by hundreds came;
The chestnuts, oaks and maples,
And leaves of every name.
The sunshine spread a carpet,
And everything was grand;
Miss Weather led the dancing,
Professor Wind, the band.

The chestnuts came in yellow,
The Oaks in crimson dressed;
The lovely Misses Maple
In scarlet looked their best.
All balanced to their partners,
And gaily fluttered by;
The sight was like a rainbow,
New fallen from the sky.

Then in the rusty hollows
At hide and seek they played,
The party closed at sundown,
And everybody stayed.
Professor Wind played louder,
They flew along the ground,
And there the party ended,
With hands across all round.

A YOUNG MAN'S CHANCE.

How many young men are looking for something notable in the way of a business opportunity we do not know, but doubtless a lot of them. How many have push and brains we don't know. Still less do we know—and it is very important—how many have a good education, willingness to tackle an easy foreign language, and money to enable them to live and travel for a year or so. But here's a suggestion:

The Panama canal will be finished probably, in less than two years. It will open to American trade and commerce several rich, half-developed countries on the western coast of South America. Before we can do business with them we must know their people, their needs, their ways, even their prejudices and idiosyncrasies.

Napoleon said: "The first essential of victory is information." Young man, get the information, if so inclined and able to do it, and you are more than half likely to find your self face to face with a big opportunity.

Ten years hence, there will be a lot of Americans who attained success via South America.

Electrical Aids in the Laundry

The Thor will wash 7 sheets or 30 mixed pieces at one time at a cost of about 1 cent for electricity. In view of this low cost, can you afford to bother with the old fashioned tub and washboard with its attendant slop, fuss and hard work? The Thor does the work not only cheaper but better than hand work. There is no rubbing of the clothes, yet the heaviest piece is as thoroughly cleansed as the lightest. Price $85. We sell all the best makes of Electric Washers.

An Electric Flat Iron

is quite as invaluable as the Electric Washer. It effects a wonderful saving of time and strength by eliminating footsteps between ironing board and stove. Then, too, since the iron is always smooth and clean, and the heat so uniform, work goes faster and is done better than with stove heated irons. This 6-pound iron, complete with connecting cord, $4.25. Other makes, sizes and styles at varying prices.

Why You Should Come

Many have asked Dr. Piper, how it is that he can cure chronic diseases that the general practitioner can do nothing with. The general answer is: Dr. Piper has devoted his life to the study of Chronic Diseases. He devotes all of his time to his given specialty. He does nothing but office work. Instead of having one office with a practice limited to a radius of a few miles, he has a number of offices, and his practice covers hundreds of miles. He advertises for the difficult and baffling cases that have been seeking relief sometimes for years, many of which come to him and find health and happiness, through the aid of his diagnostic methods and deep-acting blood remedies. His advice is always welcome to you. YOU PLACE YOURSELF UNDER NO OBLIGATION WHEN YOU CALL. Come at once and consult the doctor—next time may be too late. Many of you who have been taking medicine and so-called treatments for months will be absolutely cured in a few weeks. Very chronic cases will require somewhat longer time, but it will make no difference; you will be treated free, remedies excepted, until you can say, "I AM CURED."

Catarrh Are your lungs or bronchial tubes weak? Do you cough and expectorate diseased mucus? Does your nose stop up? Is your breath offensive? Have you a bad taste in your mouth? Have you pains in your chest? Are you bothered with shortness of breath and weak spells? Do you have throat trouble with hawking and clearing of your throat? Do you have dripping of stinking mucus from the back part of your nose into your throat? Call and have the doctor examine you. There is no need for you to have Catarrh. It often leads to that dreaded disease that is killing thousands of our best people—Consumption. Dr. Piper's treatment can be used in your home daily. No need of expensive office treatments.

Chronic Stomach Trouble causes more people to be misunderstood than any other diseased condition of the body. You are irritable in disposition—easily angered. You have plenty of ideas, but never carry any of them out. You are a failure. You have to force yourself to accomplish anything. You are blue and despondent and have many other symptoms which you know only too well. These are the mental symptoms of a deranged stomach. Other symptoms are: Bloating, Belching of gas, sour or greasy matter from the stomach, Pain, Distress, Weakness, Palpitation of the heart, Constipation or Diarrhoea, Unhealthy complexion, Changeable appetite, and Coated tongue. All these symptoms point to a deranged digestion. If you have any of these symptoms, lose no time. Dr. R. S. Piper's deep-acting remedies will cure you, no matter how many doctors have failed. His specialty is the curing of deep, aggravated chronic diseases. His motto is PAY HIM HIS FEE WHEN CURED.

Rheumatism Are you beginning to become sore and stiffened in your joints or muscles? Are your joints congested and swollen? Are your muscles and ligaments contracted? Do you have headaches? Is your rheumatism coated and your breath bad? Is your urine high colored and offensive? Do you have palpitation of your heart? Do not delay one day longer than you have to, but consult the master specialist, who will tell you what can be done for you. If there are no structural changes, your case is probably curable.

Lost Vitality Have you never recovered from an old illness? Are you despondent, blue and melancholic over your condition? Do you have spells or fits? Are you becoming anxious and fearful of the future? Are you troubled with nervousness and trembling of your limbs? Do you have that tired feeling in the morning? Is your memory failing you? Let Dr. Piper build you up to your former condition as he has done to many others likewise.

Men Are you suffering from early abuses, lost vital power, losses and drains, backache, weak back, shooting pains in the neck, chest, back and limbs, palpitation of the heart, restless nights, bad dreams, loss of ambition and mental activity, nervousness, irritability, temper, bad blood diseases which have been neglected or mistreated? No matter how chronic your trouble may be or how many have treated you, consult the master specialist, Dr. R. S. Piper. He cures 99% of all these cases that appeal to him. His medicines are quick-acting and curative. Don't let false modesty keep you away. These diseases are just as legitimate a branch of medicine as any disease of the stomach, etc. Be a man amongst men before it is too late!

Are You Suffering From your stomach, Pain or distress in your stomach, constipation or loose bowels, indigestion, flatulence, belching of gas or food from the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nervousness, loss of ambition, Wasting diseases, Varicose veins, Deep-seated blood diseases, Early abuses, loss of vitality, Headaches, Shooting pains in the head, neck, back and limbs, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Auto-intoxication, Infections of a private nature, Drains and losses, Nervous prostration, Piles, Sleeplessness, Neuritis, Poor circulation, Palpitation of the heart, Shortness of breath, Lame back, Spots floating before the eyes, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Kidney and Bladder trouble, Catarrh of any part of the body, Epilepsy or fits, Asthma, Bronchitis, Eczema, Diseased eyes, Reduced vision for want of the proper glasses, Female diseases, or any evidence of breaking down in MAN or WOMAN? LETTER A POSER FOR BRODERICK

Cast's Serious Doubt on Chicago Senator's Testimony.

RAKED UP BY D. W. HOLSTLAW

Witness Admits that He Sent It—Committee's Counsel Hold Development Most Important in Chicago Hearings.

Chicago, Oct. 21. — Eager interest was aroused by the production at the session of the Lorimer investigating committee of the United States senate of a letter which Senator John Broderick had just declared never existed. The letter, which John J. Healy, attorney for the committee, stated had been found by Former Senator D. W. Holstlaw among his papers within the last few days, was accepted as knocking the foundation from under Senator Broderick's testimony.

Mr. Broderick reluctantly admitted having written the letter. It was dated Aug. 26, 1909, and in it Senator Broderick asked Mr. Holstlaw to call on him before the following Saturday.

Counsel for the committee said that Mr. Broderick's admission, in their opinion, was the most important development that thus far had marked the hearings in Chicago.

The supposition is that the letter was written immediately preceding Mr. Holstlaw's second visit to the Broderick saloon on West Madison street, when, he says, he received $700 jack-pot money.

Mr. Holstlaw testified at Washington that he received $2,500 Lorimer money from Mr. Broderick in the latter's saloon June 16, 1909, and that about a month later he made the second visit. The date of the letter, which Mr. Holstlaw was unable to find until recently, seems to fix the time of the second visit as two months after the first.

Confronted unexpectedly with his own handwriting, Mr. Broderick was unable to give any explanation for the letter. He said he supposed he had asked his downstate colleague to make him a social call.

Mr. Broderick insisted that Mr. Holstlaw visited his saloon only once, and that on that occasion no money was paid him.

Cyril R. Jandus, former Democratic state senator who voted for Senator Lorimer and now chief deputy clerk of the probate court of Cook county, followed Mr. Broderick on the witness stand. Mr. Jandus said he was with Mr. Broderick and Former Senator Holstlaw the entire time Mr. Holstlaw was in Broderick's saloon in June, 1909, and that there was no payment of money.

STANNARD TRIAL BEGUN

First Witness Examined in Michigan Poisoning Case.

Little Daughters Go with Alleged Husband Slayer into Court; Not Allowed to Stay.

Ontonagon, Mich., Oct. 21. — Doris and Elaine Stannard came into court with their mother, who is accused of killing her husband with strychnine, and sat beside her until the hour for calling the court to order arrived. Then they had to leave, as all witnesses are excluded from the court sessions. Elaine has been subpoenaed by the prosecution and Doris by the defense.

When the little girls left her side Mrs. Stannard sat still, breathing heavily and emitting an occasional sigh. Mrs. Stannard was running her fingers on the arm of Doris' vacant chair when "Dolly" Hammes, star witness for the prosecution, entered the room. She followed the girl with her eyes as the former servant, clad in a starched white shirtwaist and blue skirt walked slowly to the witness chair.

"Dolly" did not return the gaze. The girl's action was not bold and gave no suggestion of fear. Her eyes so far as could be determined by an observer, carried an expression of deep sorrow as she took the stand.

"What did Mrs. Stannard say to you before the inquest?" asked the attorney.

"She told me to forget it and not tell anybody."

"What did she mean?"

"She meant everything that happened the day Mr. Stannard died," I told her I would.

"Oh, Dolly," cried Mrs. Stannard loudly, "Mrs. Stannard's outburst caused Judge Flannigan to suspend the session to give the woman an opportunity to regain her composure."

OLD TESTAMENT TIMES BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

THE SECOND TEMPLE'S FOUNDATION

Ezra iii, 1-4; 5—Oct. 22

"Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise."—Psalm c, 4.

His journey from Babylon to Jerusalem required about five months. Ezra with his smaller company subsequently made the journey in four months. We can well imagine the enthusiasm of this company of captives of all the tribes, people of all ages. A few of the very aged remembered having seen the land and the city in their childhood.

Arrived at their destination they found terrible dilapidation. The crumbling hand of time had cooperated with the destructive fires of Nebuchadnezzar's army, seventy years previous.

To live in the city was scarcely practicable. The people scattered in the country round about for a distance of twenty miles. First, attention was properly paid to making themselves comfortable, preparing dwellings, training olive trees and vines.

But shortly after the religious sentiment stirred them to prepare for offering formal worship to the God whose favored people they were delighted again to be.

First, the altar was built on the height of Mount Moriah, supposedly the very spot where Abraham offered his son Isaac—the very spot which was made the site of the altar in Solomon's temple. Divine worship began, and the Feast of Tabernacles was observed in the seventh month. By the next spring they felt ready to begin the reconstruction of the temple.

The news of the return of the people and of their start to rebuild the temple of the Lord spread amongst the people of the land who, in some respects at least, had been recognized as Israel's enemies. Now, however, they desired to join hands and become participants in the building of the new temple.

However, this kind invitation was refused with the answer, "Ye have nothing to do with us, to build a house unto our God; but we, ourselves, will build it unto the Lord, the God of Israel, as king Cyrus, the king of Persia, hath commanded us."

Was the Proper Course Taken?

Many have said that the Jews in this matter showed themselves narrow-minded and bigoted; that they should have been glad to have the assistance and the co-operation of their neighbors in the building of the temple, and in all the arrangements for God's worship—they should have had the missionary spirit.

Not so, we reply. Their course was the only proper one when we understand the terms and conditions under which God was dealing with Israel. It was not their commission to make Israelites out of all nations; they, as one nation, had been elected or selected by God to establish and to offer the sacrifices and worship which God had ordained through Moses. They were not at liberty to change or amend the Divine proposition and to bring others into the "elect" nation. There was indeed a method by which outsiders, non-Israelites, might become Israelites—by becoming proselytes of the gate; but in no other than in such an open, public renunciation of their wills and by devotion to Jehovah.

The Jews are still following the Divine arrangement for them in keeping aloof from other religions and by refraining from inter-marriage with other peoples.

God has thus preserved that nation separate from all others, and He tells us why. For them He has a great place in the Divine program. They are again to become God's people, God's representatives in the earth, after the Elect Church shall have been completed and glorified on the heavenly plane.

Spiritual Israel's Policy
The same policy should be observed by Spiritual Israel—"The Temple of God is holy, which Temple ye are." No outside, unconsecrated stones are wanted in this Temple. Let the world build its own. God permits His consecrated ones to be associated with Himself in the building of this Temple; as St. Jude declares, the saints, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, are to "build one another up in the most holy faith" (Jude 20). There is absolutely no place for worldly workers in conjunction with this great work of God now in progress.

The Lord's consecrated people are in training for a throne. Our Father is the Great King and He has promised that The Christ shall sit upon His throne, and we have been invited to become parts of The Christ, the Anointed, The Messiah. Shall we wonder that we need training for this important position? Shall we be surprised if disciplines are imposed and requirements made of us more than are imposed upon those not intended for this high position?

Sit at a table of 13 persons on Friday the 13th of the month.

TWELVE DROWN IN MINE

Blast Destroys Partition and Shaft Is Flooded.

Miners Caught in Unexpected Rush of Water, Swim as Best They Can for Safety.

Hibernia, N. J., Oct. 21.—Twelve men were drowned here when a blast destroyed a partition between two shafts in the iron mines of the Wharton Steel company and let a great quantity of water, accumulated in an old shaft, flood the gallery where they were at work.

All the victims were foreigners, except David Slight, foreman of the gang, who lost his life in trying to aid his men.

The accident occurred in what is known as the New Langdon shaft, in which sixty men were at work. Between the shaft and the abandoned one was a partition of logs. A blast weakened this barrier so that it gave away before the water in the adjoining gallery.

In less than a minute the water was over the miners' heads and they were obliged to swim in the darkness toward the opening leading to a higher level. The place where they were at work was about 300 feet below the surface.

Those who lost their lives were unable to swim or were pushed down by their struggling mates.

Slight, the foreman, was in a position to save himself when the deluge came, but he rushed into the submerged shaft to assist the drowning men, and was caught there with the other victims.

HELPFUL WORDS

FROM DIXON CITIZEN

Is your back lame and painful? Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region? These symptoms indicate weak kidneys.

There is danger in delay. Weak kidneys fast get weaker. Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. They strengthen weak kidneys. Read this Dixon testimony.

Noah W. Beal, 620 College Ave., Dixon, Ill., says "I gladly confirm all I have previously said in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills in public statements. I have often recommended this remedy and its use has always brought great benefit. For several years I suffered from kidney complaint and backache and at times was so bad off that I could not work."

There was an extreme weakness across my loins and I was miserable in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally obtained at Leake Bros. Co's Drug Store, cured me and toned up my system. This medicine should be given a trial by everyone afflicted with kidney complaint."

Ror sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

HAIL HINES AS 1909 WARWICK

Witness Swears He Boasted of Electing Stephenson.

HARD WORK TO KEEP HIM IN LINE

Wirt H. Cook, Duluth Lumberman, Tells of What a Time Hines Had Manipulating Senators After He Had "Put Them Over."

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 21.—The story that Edward Hines, lumberman, helped "put over" the election of Senator Isaac Stephenson and that Hines employed Robert J. Shields to work on the case both at Washington and at Madison, Wis., was repeated before the senatorial investigating committee.

Wirt H. Cook, a lumberman of Duluth, declared he had secured the information from Daniel Haley of Duluth, another lumberman. This information was that Shields wanted $15,000 for the work and Hines refused to pay that much, saying Stephenson ought to pay half of it.

Shortly after hearing this Cook testified he met Shields on a train and asked him about the story. "We were talking about both the Stephenson and the Lorimer cases," said Cook. "I asked Shields how he came out with Hines in the dispute over the job at Madison. 'Oh, that's all fixed up,' said Shields. That's about all that was said."

Cook then related a conversation which he said took place between Hines and Henry Turrish in a hotel lobby in Chicago in May, 1909, as follows:

"Turrish asked Hines how he was getting on. 'Having a hard time,' replied Hines. 'For instance, there is Stephenson. After I elected him he goes down to Washington and votes for free lumber. I have had a hard time trying to get him lined up right.'"

Cook was asked concerning a conversation he had with Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris in the office of Attorney McCorkick in the Rookery building in Chicago. Paul O. Hustling, a state senator, and Assistant Attorney General A. C. Titus, both of Wisconsin were present, Cook said. "Did you tell Mr. Morris that Stephenson and Hines each put up $55,000 to get the election and that Shields was paid to do the job?" asked Senator Heyburn.

"I didn't say that. What I did say was that Edward Hines raised about $100,000 or $115,000 to put over the election. The statement was based on what I'd heard about Shields." Robert J. Shields, much sought witness, testified. He said he took part in Stephenson's primary campaign, to pay the expenses of which he received $700.

FIXING NATIONAL BOUNDARY

Chiefs Reach Vancouver for Winter—They Finish Work Next Year.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 21.—J. P. Craig, chief of the Canadian boundary survey, Thomas Riggs, Jr., engineer in charge of the American-Alaska boundary survey, and Mr. Pope, assistant to the latter, have arrived here from the north for the winter. The last few months have been devoted to running a line along the 141st meridian from Mount St. Elias to the Arctic ocean. This line is the boundary between the northern part of the United States and Canada.

The work consists of cutting a vista twenty feet wide through the timber, putting up bronze monuments at an average distance of three miles apart and mapping the country. The expedition consisted of ninety men and 200 horses. The work, which has been going on for fourteen years, probably will be completed next year.

Asserted Vote Is Being Taken by Allied Crafts of Shopmen.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 21.—Labor leaders here announced that the five allied crafts of shopmen on strike along the Harriman railroads are preparing to strike on the Rock Island system. A strike vote is being taken by the members of the various crafts in the federation, according to the announcement.

The proposed strike would add 5,000 to 10,000 men to the number already out. It is said in labor circles that other roads are likely to be involved in the strike before it is settled.
